PROJECT KAHN ANNOUNCES WORLD PREMIERE OF THE RANGE ROVER RS-650

Project Kahn is pleased to announce the world premiere of their Range Rover RS-650 at the 2015 Geneva Motor Show. The formal unveiling will take place at 14:45 on the 3rd of March at Stand 6338, Hall 6.

The RS-650 represents an evolution of Project Kahn's signature style, featuring fully redesigned front and rear bumper assemblies in lightweight carbon composite with exposed carbon fibre detailing, and widened wheel arches with integrated air dams. The bumpers are precision designed to incorporate the original front fog lights, and feature 3D mesh inserts on all intakes. A complete colour change to Volcanic Rock Satin is contrasted with a floating roof, side vents, tailgate strip and chin spoiler in Piano Black.

In addition, the RS-650 sports a replacement front grille with floating insert, as well as an extended roof wing and boot lid spoiler formed in a lightweight composite. The exterior styling is completed by a specially redesigned stainless steel quad crosshair exhaust system which complements the appearance of the rear bumper assembly.

The striking lightweight wheels are complemented by gold painted brake calipers.

Inside, the Range Rover boasts a fully reupholstered luxury interior, with front and rear seats in perforated black leather with gold contrast stitching. Door tops, door armrests, centre console fascia, instrument binnacle and steering wheel hub have all been retrimmed to match. Stainless steel door sill plates and a machined aluminium foot pedal set complete the hand stitched leather interior.

The exterior styling components and enhancements, interior seating, components and trim and the lightweight alloy wheels are each available for purchase separately.

The Range Rover RS-650 is available in a 3.0L and 4.4L diesel as well as a 5.0L petrol variant and pricing starts from £99,875 (UK Retail Price)

The vehicle as presented at Geneva is priced at £114,875 (UK Retail Price)
